Dr Ramasami seeks to provide the latest farming technology to Indian farmers in timely and cost-effective manner and bio-Spectrum Journal has crowned Dr Ramasami as the ‘Cotton King of India’. His dedication to the Indian seed industry has been lauded by a variety of: a Doctor of Science (Honoris Causa) from Tamil Nadu Agricultural University in 2008, Life Time Achievement Award to him in 2009 (CRDA, Haryana) and Person of the Year Award in 2006. Dr Ramasami also was named ‘Cotton Man of the Country’ by the Indian Cotton Association in 2018. He is active with various agriculture and policy-guiding forums of national and global repute. He is currently the Chairman of the Federation of Seed Industry of India.