

81ST PLENARY MEETING

MUMBAI, INDIA

🌐 2-5 December 2023

Cotton Value Chain: “Local Innovations for Global Prosperity”

Mr Robert Antoshak

Robert Antoshak has more than 30 years of experience in the fibre and textile industries. As a partner with the Gherzi Textile organisation, he manages the Gherzi USA office and consults with various companies throughout the textile supply chain. He has held executive positions with the Fiber Economics Bureau as editor of the Fiber Organon; the American Fiber Manufacturers Association as Director of International Trade; the American Textile Manufacturers as Associate Director of International Trade; Trade Resources as President; Werner International as Vice President; INTL-FCStone as Managing Director of the Fibers & Textiles Division; and Olah Inc as Managing Director. Widely published, Mr Antoshak is a regular contributor to just-style.com and sourcingjournal.com.

He also maintains his own blog, fromfieldtoshelf.com. In addition to his extensive background in marketing, mergers and acquisitions, sourcing, information services, and strategic planning, Mr Antoshak has extensive experience in trade negotiations and has worked as an FBI-cleared industry advisor to the US government on numerous bilateral quota trade agreements, including NAFTA, the MFA, and the WTO.